

Lunch and Learn Series: Designing for Everyone: Universal Design at Work

Join us to explore and get practical tips on how Universal Design can transform your workplace for true inclusion. Implementing Universal Design at work means creating environments, tools, and policies that are accessible and usable by all employees, including those with disabilities, different family statuses, and of various ages.

KEY TAKEAWAYS

- Discover how Universal Design can enhance your workplace so that everyone belongs
- Apply inclusive human resources policies to attract and retain talent
- Identify and overcome physical, operational and attitudinal barriers in the workplace
- Strategies to secure managerial buy-in and foster positive cultural change
- Get inspired by real workplace examples

DETAILS

- 🕒 15 Jan 2026 (Thu)
- 🕒 1:00pm - 2:00pm
- 🎙 Cantonese
- 📍 Zoom

Register Now!

SPEAKER

Ms. Doris Tsui

Head
(Policy, Research and Training)
Equal Opportunities Commission

Doris has joined the Equal Opportunities Commission since 2009. She previously worked in the Complaint Services Division with 9 years' of hands-on knowledge about the anti-discrimination laws and operational experience in investigating and conciliating complaints.

She currently leads the Policy, Research and Training Division and oversees policy advocacy work, research, training and universal design projects.